David Leonhardt writes an economics column that appears Wednesdays in the New York Times. He has also written culture, science, travel and sports analysis stories for the Times. Leonhardt has been a finalist for the Pulitzer Prize in recognition of his work, such as the paper's 2005 series on social class.

The New York Times and the University System of New Hampshire are partnering on an effort to identify innovative ways to enhance entrepreneurial activity in higher education. This event serves as the formal kick-off of Entrepreneurship Week USA and will also feature a special exhibit of entrepreneurial ideas developed by NH college students.
